About this piece

A magnificent pair of 8" x 6"• tall mirrors from The Royal Albert Hall with gilt Laurel decoration and etched details of a Violin to the mirror plates. The mirrors are made up of a composite mix with plaster detailing in the traditional way and then gilded. These mirrors were originally hung in the South side bar at The Royal Albert Hall in London. We have a period image of them hung in the South side bar which we can forward on giving full provenance and a letter of authenticity from the archivist allowing them to be removed. Four mirrors available, this pair with Violins, one with a Mandolin and one with a French horn but we will sell them separately, see other listings.
