About this piece

Four Arts and Crafts cast iron radiator covers or console tables were made by The Liverpool and Macclesfield Cast Iron Co in the 1860s. Please note the five in the main picture are now sold, the remaining four shown in the last image have been professionally stripped and are ready to be painted to your personal taste, they have no marble. We also have one available with the white marble top that has been fully restored, please enquire on the price. There is an identical radiator cover in Sudley House Museum in Liverpool. I am happy to sell these individually, they are priced here per piece.
