About this piece

Bruce Talbert attributed for Gillows of Lancaster and London.

A rare Aesthetic Movement oak octagonal drop-leaf centre or dining table with wonderful figuring to the top. On one side there is a drop leaf that has a sliding support to hold it up or one can retract it to let the leaf hang down. Turned and incised legs united by a cross stretcher with down-turned feet with carved florets to each side of the feet and the original inset brass with white porcelain castors.

Perfect for storing against a wall when not in use.

Height 27.5 inches.

Depth 37.5 inches.

Width 37.5 inches with flap up.

Width 27 inches with flap down.
